

CSA - The Meanderthals

Critical Reminders For Trip Leaders And Participants

Trip emails go directly between Leaders and Participants.

At no point do they pass through a third party or the CSA mail system.

Non-delivery can only originate in the senders' and recipients' devices or actions.

Some leaders use auto-reply for the initial sign-up.

Your computer may treat auto-replies as spam if your preferences are not set to accept them.

If you don't get a reply from leader within a day or two, check your spam folders. If reply in spam folder, adjust your settings for future (we do not recommend setting spam to delete with no trace).

If reply not in spam folder contact the leader again.

Easy Address is just that, addressing. It is not a registration system.

Clicking the link asks your device to open an email which the website can address for you. Many devices block such requests unless you allow them (privacy/security).

If an email does not open for you to complete and send, you must send a manual email in your usual way to the address specified for that trip.

You should not re-use an email from a previous trip without checking address

It may go to the wrong trip.

All participants able to drive are expected to provide rides if needed

We know some people do not drive or have no access to a vehicle. When signing up you can help the leader to plan ride sharing if you indicate that you cannot provide a vehicle even if there are not enough seats at departure.

Trip duration should always include travel time from and back to Canmore

If unclear, email the leader and ask.